

Antibody Humanization Service

Absolute Antibody's Prometheus™ antibody humanization service delivers a panel of humanized variants from your clone, guaranteeing to produce a variant with comparable activity to the parent antibody. Our service focuses on enhancing antibody manufacturability, leading to increased expression, lower aggregation, and long-term stability and solubility.

Our Prometheus™ antibody humanization service is uniquely focused on delivering humanized antibodies with robust manufacturability, enabling the optimized large-scale production required for clinical use.

Our approach was informed by analyzing manufacturability data for more than 100 therapeutic antibodies to identify preferential manufacturing properties. We use structure-guided CDR grafting onto preferred germline backbones selected for these key manufacturability properties.

Model of antibody-antigen interface

- Our service is royalty-free with a no-success-no-fee guarantee
- We guarantee to produce a panel of humanized variants
- We humanize from mouse, rat, rabbit and camelid antibodies – contact us for other species
- Our team has deep humanization expertise, dating back to the first humanized antibody in 1988
- We've completed 100+ successful humanizations, for customers ranging from pharma to academia
